Severn Trent Services Launches New Web Site

New site offers enhanced navigation, faster and more accessible downloads

FT. WASHINGTON, PA – April 13, 2007 - Severn Trent Services has launched a new, integrated, data-driven Web site, www.severntrentservices.com. The improved site, which features more than 2,000 pages, uses advances in Internet technology to create a superior online experience.

Initially launched in 2003, the site retains a wealth of information for the water and wastewater industry but now offers easier, faster access to information with enhanced navigation and rapid download functionality. Each page has been customized to provide instant access to the company's relevant regional contact person. Site users can search hundreds of products and services by product, service, brand or application. Globally accessible downloads, including product brochures, technical documents, and multimedia videos and presentations, are now available directly from the applicable product or service pages or through an advanced search function. The site also houses the company's popular quarterly e-newsletter, Water & Wastewater Solutions.
